TRIFET'S MONTHLY GALAXY OF MUSIC

A Magazine of Vocal and Instrumental Music for the Masses

Each number of this wonderfully popular magazine contains from 38 to 48 pages of the best new and popular vocal and instrumental music, making in the course of the year a volume of 500 pages, containing over 200 selections for only $1.00. Single copies 10 cents. To Clubs we allow the most liberal premiums. For instance, two copies one year $1.70, three copies one year $2.40, five copies one year $3.80, ten copies one year $7.30. We also give valuable premiums to subscribers who work to increase our circulation. Please read what the press of the country think of the GALAXY. These are but a few among thousands.

What the Press thinks of the Galaxy

The selection is a good one, and the 10-cents-a-copy price is no price for it.—Chicago Lumberman.

It presents more choice music than any like publication we have seen.—Denver Eye.

It is a clean and instructive journal for all lovers of music, amateur or professional, pupil or teacher. The publishers have spared no pains in making it one of the leading musical magazines of this country.—Lake View Independent.

A magazine well worth the price.—Saturday Gazette.

A very little money buys a large amount of popular music in this monthly.—Lowell Courier.

There are musical monthlies in plenty, but few come up to the standard which Mr. F. Trifet, the well-known Boston publisher, has set for his new GALAXY OF MUSIC.—Hamilton Times.

If the publishers can stand it to give so much for a dime it would seem as though they might calculate on an immense circulation, for in no other way can such a quantity of well-printed music be obtained at the price. The music is of a popular character.—Lowell Times.

Can hardly fail to please either professional or amateur.—Newark Journal.

A well selected list of popular pieces in a compact and convenient form.—Boston Commonwealth.

Is, as it pretends to be, a magazine of music for the masses.—Chicago Drivers Journal.

An exceptionally valuable production. Indeed, the very best thing of the kind we have ever seen.—Princeton Home.

A magazine that each and every mechanic, who has any ear for music, should have in his household.—Plumber's Trade Journal.

Adapted to almost all tastes and capacities.—Waltham Free Press.

It is deservedly growing more popular each issue.—Riverside Valley Echo.

An excellent idea of the publisher, and presents a fine collection of music.—Chicago Occident.

Our music-loving readers will do well to send $1 and thus secure the GALAXY for one year.—Valley Falls Lucifer.

A very cheap way of securing good music for a little money.—Mishawaka Enterprise.

GALAXY OF MUSIC for May is delightful.—Washington Gazette.

Every lady fond of music will do well to subscribe for this monthly.—Henderson News.

The finest collection of music furnished by any periodical in the United States.—Albert Lea Enterprise.

The music is of a high order, and the only wonder is that it can be afforded for the small sum of $1 a year.—San Francisco Pacific Churchman.

It is indeed the very best thing of the kind we have ever seen and really very cheap.—Princeton Home.

A musical publication of incontestable merit.—St. Paul Canadian.

One of the best musical magazines for the price. In no wise inferior to higher priced sheet music.—Sterling Standard.

One of the best musical monthlies we have seen, and not filled up with news gossip and criticism which the majority of subscribers care little for.—Marshall News-Messenger.

A remarkably cheap publication. The selections are very good, being adapted to the wants of the novice as well as the skillful artist.—Arrow Rock Times.

The best popular musical publication we have yet seen.—New Hartford Tribune.

The selections of one number are worth a dozen subscriptions.—Dover Delawarean.

A valuable musical publication.—Mansfield Shield and Banner.

All interested in music should give it a trial.—Haverhill Bulletin.

Lovers of music cannot afford to be without it, as it is replete with choice selections.—Chicago Butchers' Journal.

Well worthy the attention of all lovers of music, as it places good music in their possession for very little money.—Attleboro Advertiser.

Is a wonderful ten cents' worth. It is, indeed, what it is announced to be, "a magazine of music for the masses."—Hamilton Times.

It is full of good music, and only $1 per year. Send for it as it is worth far more.—Dover Delawarean.

A little late but is none the less welcome. Altogether worthy of the publisher.—Newark Journal.

The cheapest publication extant.—Dubuque Herald.

What the Press thinks of the Galaxy

A very cheap and good way to secure a choice collection of songs and piano pieces.—Lynn Item.

Ample worth the money.—New Brunswick Home News.

The numbers are worth a dozen times the cost of the work and are selected with care and taste to please the public.—Dubuque Herald.

Containing many beautiful selections.—Frederick News.

Containing selections of a high order.—Alt'a Telegraph.

It no doubt will meet with favor.—New Bedford Standard.

Has something for those who are recent students of music as well as for those who think they have about rounded the curriculum.—Newark Journal.

Some of the vocal selections are extremely beautiful. For lovers of music it will be a treat, supplying a great deal of good music for a very little money.—Emporia News.

A welcome addition to our musical magazines and its extremely low price will enable it to be placed within the reach of all.—Chicago Occident.

A very interesting visitor.—Louisville Democrat.

Contains a choice selection of vocal and instrumental pieces.—Fargo Argus.

Lovers of music will find it to their interest to subscribe.—The Charleston Despatch.

A remarkably cheap publication.—Pittston Gazette.

Contains a great quantity and variety of popular music.—Columbus Dispatch.

Well gotten up and affords to its subscribers a splendid opportunity to obtain late and popular music at a nominal cost.—Marion Star.

Truly a "Galaxy of Music" as the title imports. A splendid magazine of music each one a beautiful repertoire of charming music.—Washington Gazette.

The number at hand contains several beautiful selections.—Charlottetown Examiner.

Brings the publication of music to a point that leaves no excuse for wanting a good supply of good music.—Natchez Democrat.

A magazine of music of a popular character.—Chicago Cynosure.

It strikes us very favorably.—Atlanta Index.

Contains fine selections of music.—Meadville Republican.

The contents are really superior. A subscription for this publication would by no means be money ill-spent.—Stratford Herald.

The best dime's worth of music we have yet seen.—Sarnia Observer.

How it manages to give such a good and varied collection for ten cents is a puzzle.—Steubenville Herald.

The best of musical monthlies.—Chatham World.

It bids fair to become very popular. Its field covers a wide range of music.—Newport News.

Full of good pieces.—Pittsburgh Tribune.

We regard this as the best publication of the kind, and it is destined to have a large circulation. It has no room to spare for news, gossip and criticism, about which most people care very little. It is the music they want, and Mr. Trifet liberally obliges them.—Philadelphia Call.

It contains many pretty pieces.—Little Rock Democrat.

A good selection of vocal and instrumental music.—Montreal Star.

Will prove immensely popular. Those desiring choice music at the lowest rates should subscribe to it.—Jefferson Jimplectute.

One of the very best publications for the lovers of good music. We advise our readers to procure a copy and see what an excellent publication it is.—Cambridge Jeffersonian.

A splendid compilation and worth many times its price.—Lonsacoring Review.

Can assure all lovers of music that it is worth double the amount charged for it.—Hartford Sentinel.

Each number contains a variety of pieces, which in any other form would cost a year's subscription to this journal.—Troy Budget.

A publication worthy of encouragement.—Schenectady Star.

More good music for the money than ever before offered.—Norwalk Stock Show Journal.

Costs only a dime, while it contains several dollars' worth of the best sheet music.—Balem Fireside Favorite.

The musical young friends to whom we have given it are delighted with what they find upon its pages.—Chicago Christian Worker.

Every lover of music should have it.—Atlanta Railroad Record.

What the Press thinks of the Galaxy

A glance at which will commend it to all lovers of music as being the cheapest magazine of its kind to be found.—Havre du Grace Electric Light.

For lovers of music it will be a treat, supplying a great deal of good music for a very little money.—Clinton News.

Well worth the price to any one who plays the piano.—Natchez Democrat.

Without which no musician's repertoire is complete.—Dubuque Herald.

A large selection of music of high order and is well worth the price.—Greensboro Free Press.

As its name indicates, it is a perfect "Galaxy of Music."—Allegan Journal and Tribune.

A good selection of standard musical publications.—Marblehead Messenger.

Will delight all with the quantity and quality of the music it contains.—New Bedford Mercury.

Full of choice music, and no lover of good music should be without a copy.—Oxford Globe.

This periodical is correctly entitled the GALAXY OF MUSIC.—Baltimore Free Press.

Lovers of good music should subscribe.—Warsaw Independent.

The selections are beautiful.—Sandwich Free Press.

Ought to have a large circulation among musicians.—Freeport Democrat.

It is not often lovers of good music can get sixteen new pieces each month for one dollar a year. Yet that is what it gives.—Sandwich Argus.

The collection is excellent.—Portland Times.

Published at the surprisingly low price, considering the excellence of the contents and execution, of $1 per year. This seems to us the cheapest method of securing first-class music in handsome and convenient form that we have ever seen.—San Louis Obispo Tribune.

It abounds with good music, and is very cheap.—Addison Record.

Its selections are really a Galaxy of gems which if bought in music form would cost about $6.80.—Gorham Mountaineer.

One of the cheapest and most desirable musical monthlies.—Chelsea Telegraph.

Another month's GALAXY OF MUSIC has been received, like its predecessor, filled with the best selections.—Lewiston Saturday Journal.

Replete with many magnificent selections. An indispensable article in the music room.—Hoboken Democrat Advertiser.

A handsome magazine of new and selected sheet music. It should be taken by every music lover.—Dubuque Trade Journal.

We could recommend it to all lovers of music. It is well worth the price.—Eldora Weekly Ledger.

It was a happy idea that prompted the publication of this monthly. The music is good and worth, both to the amateur and the proficient, far more than it costs.—St. Louis Central Baptist.

For it is the publisher charges a dime—little enough in all conscience.—Brooklyn Eagle.

It is only necessary to examine it to be assured of its high standing among journals of its kind and a music loving public. Its contents are of the choicest order, containing selections from the most celebrated authors. We know of no better magazine for the money.—Tukon Patriot and Gazette.

More and better music than we have ever seen for the money.—Camden Advertiser.

In no other way can one procure so fine and so well selected an amount of music for the money.—Peabody Reporter.

There is no excuse for a lack of music in the home when such monthly as the GALAXY OF MUSIC may be had one year for $1.—St. Louis Light in the West.

We know Mr. Trifet, and that he is as full of music as he is of business. Send for a sample copy. You will get your money's worth.—New York Society Journal.

It will be found to be a most valuable instructor in every home where music hath charms.—West Liberty Dairy and Farm Journal.

Contains a large number of selections of the most popular music, and is sold at the wonderfully low price of $1 per year.—Pittsfield Analecta.

The music furnished by this monthly is popular, and it gives a large amount for a little money.—New Bedford Standard.

Get specimen number and you will be sure to subscribe.—Peabody Press.
